ATLANTIC FLEET COMPLETES ITS MANEUVERS HALLEY'S FAMOUS COMET SEEN AGAIN

Cruisers To Beat Their Own Records

Ships In First Class Condition For Big Speed Test. Admiral Returns
Calls--General Fleet News

Owing to the courtesy of Captain William S. Benson, chief of staff of the flagship Tennessee, the following interesting averages made by the eight ships now in port on their official speed trials, will give some idea of what the ships will have to do on their speed trials next Tuesday and Wednesday off the coast of Maui, if they wish to beat their own records. The Tennessee, 22.16 knots; Washington, 22.27; South Dakota, 22.24 and the California 22.29. Of the vessels of the second division the West Virginia, 22.15; Maryland, 22.41; Pennsylvania, 22.44 and the Colorado 22.24.

Captain Benson in talking about the speed trials, stated "that he was very anxious to see all the ships give a good account of themselves next week and if possible equal, if not set a new record."

"The ships are all in first class condition, and every detail is being gone over carefully so that when we start we will be able to make new records if conditions are in our favor. The course run will be to the northward and westward from Moolana Bay, on the leeward side of Maui, running parallel with the coast, and then turning at full speed, finishing the trials just before we come to our anchorage."

"The trials will last for four hours, and will be finished before noon of each day. We will probably make about 13 knots from Moolana Bay to (Continued on Page 3)

"I was actually surprised at the attention the Hawaiian exhibit attracted at the Alaska-Yukon exposition," said J. P. Cooke, manager of Alexander & Baldwin, who arrived in the Manchuria from a long vacation trip to the States.

"Of course I was pleased, but I had no idea that our exhibit would be such a drawing card. I believe it is the attraction of the whole fair, estimated in the number of people who have visited it."

"And the pineapple feature of the exhibit was a revelation to me. I was astounded at the way people take to the pineapples. They pass the word along the line. Every per- (Continued on Page 4)

WITNESSES TELL OF THE RIOT

Quick Progress Is Made
In Riot Trial
Today

The second trial of the Waipahu rioters is proceeding with unusual rapidity, and according to the time that has been consumed in the examination of one of the most important witnesses for the prosecution, E. M. Scoville, the trial will be concluded in a considerably shorter period than was necessary for the first.

Attorney Lightfoot for the defense concluded with the cross-examination of Scoville, the chief engineer of Oahu plantation, this morning, and when court adjourned for the day at 12:30, August Spillner was telling his story of the Waipahu riot.

In his cross-examination of Mr. Scoville this morning Lightfoot attempted to show that because he did not know the exact size of the stones that were thrown at the officers by the riotous men he was not (Continued on Page 4)

NEED RAILROADS, SAYS LEIGHTON

Hydrographer Speaks At Commercial Club

Transposition is the essential factor in the development of the homestead policy on Hawaii, M. O. Leighton, chief hydrographer of the geological survey, told the members of the Commercial Club at noon today. He also declared that railroads would have to be developed in advance of traffic and suggested that the Territory guarantee the bonds. Mr. Leighton was warmly applauded on the conclusion of his remarks. He said:

"No good business man would operate a mercantile establishment year after year without taking account of stock; no successful manufacturer would sell or contract to deliver a season's product of his factory unless he had a thorough knowledge concerning the supply of raw material entering into that product. These are self-evident truths. Why, then, should a territory the bone and sinew of which is made up of hard-headed business men expect to continue to roll up an immense snow ball representing agricultural success, when very little is known concerning the most necessary raw material, namely, water?" ### Congressmen See Honolulu's Schools

Lawmakers Of The Nation Inspect System
And Are Pleased, Speeches, Receptions And Luncheon At The Normal

The fifty-seven varieties of entertainments were accorded to the Congressmen today by fifty-seven varieties of school children.

Superintendent Rabbitt of the Department of Public Instruction had another large class to instruct and in the visiting representatives and their families found apt and enthusiastic pupils.

Loading into automobiles before the Young Hotel at 9:30 this morning the visitors went first to the St. Louis College where, before the building the pupils formed two side of a triangle and the automobiles, facing them formed the third side. The St. Louis band, stationed in the corner of the triangle, greeted the sightseers with Hawaiian music and bid them farewell with a medley of national airs.

Hon. A. J. Barendse spoke to the pupils.

From the St. Louis College, the party went down King street, and Rabbitt's automobile, the leader, suddenly knocked a hole in the middle distance and disappeared from view. The party was late. As a result the next automobile in line turned into the Kamehameha School grounds, leaving for the leader and the procession turned in after them. Failing to see Mr. Rabbitt's genial countenance smiling at them they went out again and lit out for the Kalihiwaena public school, where they found him amidst a small army of schoolchildren wondering where his bunch were.
